

Programme Specific Outcome B.A. Gujarati

- To inculcate literary sense.
- To improve language skills.
- To develop human values.
- Due to knowledge of literature and improved language skills in Gujarati, one can perform better in competitive examinations.

Programme Specific Outcome B.A Sanskrit

- To develop language skill in Sanskrit
- To learn the Indian culture, knowledge of ancient works, and human values
- To learn comparison with other languages
- To achieve success in competitive examinations.
- To know about ancient social life.

Programme Specific Outcome History

- To study further in archeological
- To become aware how to preserve our heritage
- To choose history subject in various competitive examinations
- To develop positive attitude and to forget negative aspects from knowledge of history
- Inculcate respect for freedom fighters and the great men of India.
- To know about Indian freedom struggle.
- To develop patriotic feeling for nation.

Programme Specific Outcome Sociology

- The subject like sociology is very useful to prepare next generation through UG/PG in higher education of India. Sociology makes the students in sense as a social animal.
- They are able to know importance of social study by the way of understanding different aspects of social life in scientific manner.
- They also are able to understand contemporary social issues and problems and also able to problem solution.
- Sociology is useful to NGOs, policy makers for the society, traditional and contemporary society for social transformation and identifying various social concepts.

Programme Specific Outcome English

- The ability to analyze, interpret and understand the complex inter-relationship between authors, texts, and specific social, political and historical contexts.
- A demonstrable ability to use the terms, categories and concepts of critical or 'close' reading.
- A student in the English should gain the ability to read, understand, analyze, interpret and extrapolate from the complex texts that are at the heart of diverse traditions of the English language.
- A writing knowledge of literary canons in English as well as strategies for critiquing them. We read books and we read culture & there are many communities of English with great traditions of expressive works.
- Experience conducting research and for students of creative writing, the production of new artistic work. It is a special disciplinary benefit of English that it provides students with a field for exercising skills of disciplined independent inquiry that transfer to all walks of life.

-

-

Principal
Sheth Shree B.C. Shah Arts College
At. & Ta-Vadali, Dist. Sabarkantha